One day last holidays I decided to go exploring on my own in the mountains. The time passed quickly and by late afternoon I got tired and hungry. "Maybe I'll find a village soon," I thought. But there was nothing. As it started to get dark, I realised I was completely lost. I could easily die, I thought on this cold mountain. Suddenly I saw the light. It was a postman of the near village. He told me that it's common for people to get lost in this mountains. So he's been searching for people every night for a past few years. As we walked he told me a lot of stories how he rescued people from death in the mountains. One day there was a landslide. He found a group of people stuck on the rock. If he didn't phone the live-savers in ~~the~~ the right time, someone could die, because it was a big chance of another landslide. There ~~were~~ ^{was} other times when he found a left dog. Her name is Daisy Forget-me-not, she's a three year old Labrador.

Time passed quickly and we came to the village. He brought me to the police office and said that there is a room for people who get lost like us and told me that he would see us in the morning. I passed the night in the police office, then ate breakfast, the bakery had a delicious bun and pretzels. After the breakfast I met postman. He gave me a map and told which road should I take to successfully make it to the town. We said good bye to each other and I started my way to home.
